WORK OF TARIFF MAKING BEGINS

Democrats Meet This Morning and Plan a Revision Program.

CAUCUS APRIL FIRST.

President Wilson's Ideas Detailed—Underwood Says no Omnibus Bill Will be Prepared.

Washington, March 7.—Tariff making of the new administration began today. The eleven Democrats of the House Ways and Means Committee met to plan their revision progrm. They considered eight tentative bills now practically completed.

New members who sat with the committee today for the first time were Reps. Garner, of Texas, Stanley of Kentucky, and Collier of Miss., following their election by the caucus Wednesday.

Fixing of a date to hold a "tariff caucus" of all House Democrats shortly before April 1 to ratify the committee's program was other business before the committe today.

President Wilson's ideas on tariff revision were detailed by Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, who conferred yesterday with the executive. Palmer wants no legislation but the tariff and re-enactment of appropriation bills which failed at last session, to be considered at this special session.

Majority Leader Underwood stated today that in accordance with the President's decision there will be no omnibus tariff bill, instead, fourteen bills, twelve dealing with the separate schedules, one with the free list and another with administrative machinery, will be presented.

Another important question before the House "steering" committee today was wthether 55 standing committees of the House shall be recognized at once. The committee practically dictates the Democratic personnel of the commitees, although they are elected by the House.

To postpone formation of any committees, except the tariff body, until the last week of the extra session is being seriously considered. If the tariff is made the sole business of the extra session, organization of the other 55 committees will be unnecessary at least until midsummer and then only in order to have them ready for real work when the December session opens.

EFFECTS OF FALL OF JANINA.

Thirty Thousand Shells Thrown Into Beleagured City.

London, March 7.—The fall of Janina under the Greek attack was today expected to expedite the resumption of peace negotiations between Turkey and the Allies. It was conceded by diplomats however, that the marked success of the Greeks might complicate the accomplishment of peace. By taking the important fortress, which is the key to Epirus, Greece is in a much more commanding position and in better shape to deal with Bulgaria in the division of spoils.

Dispatches from Athens state that the surrender of Janina was made by Essad Pasha, after a bombardment lasting through two days. During that time the Greeks, with their own artillery and guns loaned by the Servians, threw thirty thousand shells into the besieged city, silencing the Turkish batteries. The Turks then made a valiant sortie, but were surprised by a flank movement, and retreated back to the city.

Janina was under constant siege from the beginning of the Balkn war last October.

The allies have not yet replied to the note of the powers, delivered by the ambassadors at Rome, offering to settle peace terms, as requested by Turkey.

E. GOLDSMITH TO RETIRE.

Announcement is made by E. Goldsmith, one of the oldest merchants in Alexandria, that he will shortly retire from active business in this city. The business at the corner of King and Lee streets, will be closed out.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Three foreigners were wounded severely and the lives of hundreds of their fellows endangered at Trenton, N. J., yesterday afternoon in a pitched battle between half a thousand striking section hands and several scores of private police and employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. The fight was waged in the West Morrisville freight yards and more than one hundred shots were exchanged between the combatants.

George Hart, of Baltimore, a conductor on the Halethorpe line, was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by a officer of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, charging him with cruelly assaulting and burning his five-year-old son, Walter. According to the police, on Thursday, February 1, last, Hart seized the left hand of his son and placed it three times upon the red hot top of a kitchen range, because the boy refused to tell him where he had secured an egg with which he was playing.

Engineer Joseph McGowan, and Fireman Gustave Sagen were slowly roasted to death yesterday beneath a pile of blazing coal which pinned them to earth following the wreck of a Northern Pacific freight train near Davidson, Minn. The train was derailed when the engine ran off the track at a switch. Six cars caught fire, and one of them, containing kerosene, set fire to the coal which was thrown from the locomotive tender over the two men.

Reaching a velocity of over 60 miles an hour, a heavy windstorm swept over New Castle, Del., yesterday afternoon, unroofing buildings, uprooting trees and doing considerable damage in rural districts. C. L. Wingate, of Wilmington, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, was seriously injured internally when blown from the top of a freight car.

Frank M. Ryan, of Chicago, one of the labor leaders convicted in the dynamite conspiracy trials in Indianpolis, was re-elected president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers at its session yesterday.

Fire of unknown origin last night destroyed the Central passenger, freight and express depot of the Cincinnati, Georgetown and Portsmouth and the Rapid Railway interurban traction lines, in Cincinnati, with total loss on building and contents of $200,000, well covered by insurance.

Mrs. Mary Theresa Leiter, widow of Levi Z. Leiter, the millionaire Chicago merchant, and for two decades one of the most popular hostesses in Washington's most exclusive social circles, died suddenly shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her home, 1500 New Hampshire avenue, of apoplexy. She was 69 years old.

After telephoning to a friend that he intended to kill himself, Nathan Pfister, 44 years old, a caretaker on the farm of Charles Franz, sr., at Langhorne, Pa., shot himself in the neck Wednesday. Then he crawled to the hayloft o fthe stable, and set fire to the building. The barn was destroyed. Pfister's charred body was found in the ruins after the flames had been extinguished. Pfister, according to the State police, had been drinking heavily for the last three weeks and was despondent.

Plans for the erection of one of the greatest chapels in the United States, to grace the campus of the Catholic University in Brookland, D. C., were formulated yesterday, when Mrs. Burral Hoffman, a New York society leader, and Mgr. Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the university, organized a society of Catholic women, who will spread the work in the large cities of the country in an effort to raise more than $500,000 for the structure. Within 30 minutes $3,500 was pledged. The Rev. Sigourney Fay followed the rector of the university in an address, in which he said the women could, if they would, build a church to equal the church of Notre Dame in Paris. Mrs. Thomas Fortune Ryan, of New York, was chosen president of the Washington branch of the national society that will undertake to raise the money with which to construct the chapel.

MAJOR SYLVESTER IS SUMMONED

Must Testify Before Senate Investigating Committee Tomorrow.

THE MEN HIGHER UP.

Senator Poindexter Alleges He Heard Rowdies Insult Women—No Protection From Patrolmen.

Washingon, March 7.—Afer the "men higher up" whom witnesses have charged were responsble for the lax discipline among policemen and the bluecoats' inactivity in protecting suffrage marchers in the big pageant last Monday, the Senate investigating committee today summoned Major Richard Sylvester, cheif of the Washington police force, to testify tomorrow.

Senator Poindexter, of Washington, who was an eye-witness to scenes of disorder and heard rowdies insult women paraders without any action by certain patrolmen, declared his belief today that there "was an understanding among the individual members of the force that they would be protected by the higher authorities of the police department."

Senator Jones, chairman of the investigating committee, said he was convinced from the evidence so far that the congressional resolution providing for police protection to paraders "had been disobeyed in a flagrant manner."

Several suffragettes, who did not care to testify before the committee, today filed affidavits charging the police with "wilful neglect of duty." Miss Elizabeth Kent, daughter of the congressman from California, was among those who filed affidavits today. In her statement, Miss Kent asserted that "at one point in the parade the only clear space was between the car tracks of the street. Here three men in succession caught hold of and pulled my riding habit. Although a policeman was not more than three feet away. He did nothing."

WRIT REFUSED.

The Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday refused a writ of error to C. M. Kemper, in the suit of Thomas J. Fannon vs. the Virginia Safe Deposit and Trust Corporation, from the Corporation Court of the city of Alexandria, involving a phase of settlement of the affairs of that concern.

SELECTED CHAPLAIN.

Dr. J. F. Prettyman Chosen For Position by Senate—Senator Clark President Pro Tempore.

Washington, March 7.—Dr. J. F. Prettyman, of the Methodist Church South, was chosen chaplain of the Senate today by the Democratic caucus. A score of local clergyme nwere active candidates for the place.

Senator Clarke, of Arkansas, was selected to act as president pro tempore of the Senate. Senator Bacon, who was the Democratic candidate for this place during the last session, was defeated by several votes.

CASE CONTINUED.

The examination of Minnie Hand, alias Minnie Smith, a resident of the northeastern section of the city, who was arrested recently on suspicion of having engaged in the white slave traffic and released after several days, and again taken into custody at the instance of the Department of Justice, following, it is stated, an investigation of her alleged operations in Philadelphia began this afternoon. She will appear before United States Commissioner R. P. W. Grantt, and from the number of witnesses expected to appear, coming from Philadelphia, Washington and other cities, the trial will take up all of the afternoon and probably be continued during the evening.

Cambridge, Mass.—Norbert Wiener, son of a professor, is the youngest man who has ever received a degree of doctor of philosophy from Harvard. He is 18 years old.

THE ALLENS MUST DIE.

Governor Mann Refuses to Save Virginia Outlaws.

Richmond, Va., March 7.—Floyd Allen and his young son, Claude Swanson Allen, Carroll county mountaineers, must go to the electric chair on March 28 and expiate the crime they participated in on March 14 of last year, when the Allen clansmen shot up the courthouse at Hillsville, Va., and killed Judge Thornton L. Massie, Commonwealth's Attorney W. M. Foster and Sheriff Lew Webb and wounded a Miss Ayers and a juror, who died later from their wounds.

Convicted of the murder of W. M. Foster, their appeal was considered twice by the Supreme Court and both times the decision of the lower court was affirmed. Governor Mann has granted four respites in order to have time to consider the case in every detail.

In a statement issued last night, Governor Mann declines to consider the case further and says the law's mandates must be carried out on March 28. Governor Mann says he finds no evidence that a political or other kind of feud existed between the court officers and the members of the Allen gang at the time of the wholesale shooting of the judiciary. The verdict in Sidna Allen's case is branded a miscarriage of justce. The statement reads, in part:

"Profoundly impressed with my responsibility and the value of human life, I have several times respited the Allens in order that I might make the most careful and thorough examination. I have read the evidence produced at the trials, the letters and petitions addressed to me, the sentence of the trial judge and the opinions of our Supreme Court of Appeals and on two occasions I have heard the arguments of the attorneys of those favoring commutation and in many instances, have had conversations with the freinds of the unfortunate men. I think it safe to say that their cases have been presented from every possible standpoint with feeling and ability.

"Desiring all the light possible, I have not been satisfied with the information thus brought me, but have sought it at first hand from those familiar with the facts and had hoped that I might find some good reason which would permit me with due regard to the law I have sworn to execute and the rights of innocent people to protection—to exercise executive clemency.

"I have looked for a reason why I should exercise the high power given me by the Constitution—a power which because it is high and extraordinary, must be used carefully, not to defeat justice, but to promote it when for any cause the courts are so bound by precedent, rules or conditions as to be unable to afford it.

"In these cases the gravest crime of which I have any knowledge has been committed; a court has been wantonly destroyed in its temple.

"The very foundation upon which society rests for its protection and safety have been threatened and would be weakened and endangered if I yielded to that sentiment of mercy which would extend clemency to Floyd and Caude Allen at the expense of justice to the State and protection to its citizens. I must, therefore, decline to interfere with the regular course of the law.

"In order, however, that these unfortunate men may have time, now that all earthly hope is gone, to make their peace with God. I have reprieved Floyd and Claude Allen until Friday, March 28, 1913, and on that day the sentences o fthe court will be carried out in the manner prescribed by law.

"As this decision, regretfully reached after careful consideration, is absolutely final, I trust the good people of Virginia will so consider it, and will refrain from further efforts to secure clemency for these unfortunate but guilty men."

COURT OF APPEALS.

The following cases were argued in the State Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday:

City of Richmond vs. Burton. Argued by H. R. Pollard, for the appellee, and C. V. Meredith, for the appellant, and submitted.

Southern Railway vs. Rice's administrator. Munford & Hunton, for the appellee, and Hunsdon Cary and W. C. Tucker, for the appellant, and continued until today.

The next cases to be called are: Matthews vs. Hickman, White vs. the American National Life Insurance Company, and Huff, executor, et als. vs. Rose, executrix et als.

SELECTIONS FOR DIPLOMATIC POSTS

President will Impose Greater Responsibilities Upon Heads.

MANY SPECULATIONS.

National Democratic Chairman McCombs May be Offered Position of Minister to France.

Washington, March 7.—President Wilson will not pick his diplomatic appointees until he has gone over the entire list of "possibilities" with Secretary of State Bryan. Such a move in is keeping with his policy of giving heads of executive departments greater responsibility and leaving with them the task of sorting out the proper persons for places under their control. Both the executive and the secretary of state have so far been so busy on the routine of their respective jobs that they have not yet had time to talk over the matter.

The first appointment is expected to be that of an ambassador to Great Britain to succeed the late Whitelaw Reid, that post being vacant. The President has already announced that he has offered a "principal European post" to National Democratic Chairman Wm. F. McCombs, and the understanding is that it was France. McCombs' acceptance or declination is expected within a day or two. His friends believe he will accept.

Washington is full of reports that certain men are slated for certain places but it is believed there is little foundation for any definite statements of this character. It is learned that several men whose names have been mentioned as probably appointees to Great Britain are not under consideration by the President and Secretary Bryan. Among them are Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard, Wm. Church Osborne, of New York, Justice J. W. Gerard, of New York, Thomas Nelson Page, of Washington, Frederick C. Penfield, of Philadelphia, and David R. Francis, ex-governor of Missouri.

It is understood that Richard Olney, of Massachusetts, who has also been prominently reported as a probable ambassador to Great Britain, is likely not to get that post. Some of the men in this list, who it is believed can be positively eliminated as far as the court of St. James is concerned, are expected to be sent to other posts of less magnitude.

Women Adopt Resolutions.

Richmond, Va., March 7.—The following resolutions in regard to the insults offered the women marchers in the parade have been adopted by the Virginia women:

Inasmuch as the women suffragists of America, after having been promised the protection of the police of Washington and the right of way along the route selected for their pageant, through the streets of Washington on March 3, 1913, were accorded neither of these rights, the police being apparently inactive in preventing or arresting disorder,

Be it resolved, That the Virginia women and men who represented the Equal Suffrage League of Virginia in this procession do most earnestly protest against this injustice, and desire that the senators and representatives from Virginia, as members of the body which governs the municipal affairs of Washington, shall take such steps as may be necessary to institute and to further an investigation by Congress of this occurrence;

Resolve further, that they request that the results of this investigation be made public.

(Signed) Mrs. John H. Lewis, vice-president, Equal Suffrage League of Virginia; Mary Johnston, vice-president; Sophie G.Meredith, vice-president; Kate Lankley Bosher, vice president; Pauline Forstall Adams, vice-president; Jane Fitzhugh, president Fredericksburg League.

These resolutions will be signed by the other fifty members of the Virginia delegation.

SEVENTY-FIVE MEN REPORTED KILLED

Explosion of Dynamite at Curtis Bay—Steamer and Tug Boat Blown Up.

VICTIMS ARE NEGROES.

Many Windows Shattered in Baltimore People Flee in Terror—Shock Felt in Philadelphia.

Baltimore, Md., March 7.—A dynamite barge in Curtis Bay exploded at 10:45 o'clock this morning. The terrific shock blew up the tug Atlantic and the British tram steamer Alum Chine, Captain Anstey. Seventy-five men are reported dead.

Thirty-nine bodies had been recovered at 12:50 o'clock. Tugs from the city are now picking up survivors. Late reports say they have reached two dozen men, mostly negroes. The captains and crews of the steamer and tug are reported dead.

The dynamite was being loaded for Panama and the Alum Chine had already received a large portion of her cargo. She sailed from New York February 25, and arrived in Baltimore March 1. Loading began almost immediately.

The shock of the explosion was so great that windows were broken and houses shaken. In Baltimore a pane of glas from the top windows of office buildings fell and the great structures rocked. All over eastern Maryland people thought the shock an earthquake. Goods on store shelves in avre De Grace were thrown to the floors. The state house at Annapolis was rocked so violently Governor Goldsborough was frightened. Horses ran away in Eastern. Denton, Maryland, telephoned Baltimore newspapers of an earthquake, giving details of its effect there.

At the city quarantine station every window was broken. Mrs. Richardson, wife of the physician in charge, was hady injured by glass. Reports of slight injuries at manufactories nearby will run into the hundreds.

At the Maryland Steel Company, across the river, men thought the great plant hal suffered an explosion and ran from their machines in terror.

The U. S. collier Jason, lying in mid stream, was shaken so badly it nearly capsized. Shiping even in Baltimore harbor, six miles away by water, was rocked.

Four men on the U. S. Collier Jason were killed and 40 reported injured. The Jason was recently completed at Sparrow's Point and was about to start on her trial trip.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 7.—The dynamite explosion in Baltimore harbor shortly before noon today was felt distinctly in Philadelphia and vicinity. The shock was most severe at the League Island Navy Yard, where officials immediately telephoned to the local Weather Bureau to know if there had been an earthquake.

The disturbance was so severe all along the Delaware river that residents of many small towns believed that the League Island Navy yard had been wrecked by an explosion.

BLASTS OF OLD BOREAS.

High Northwest Winds Waft Cold Wave Over This City and Vicinity

The mercury in the thermometer fell rapidly yesterday after the wind shifted to the northwest and by night the temperature was uncomfortably low, hence comparatively few people were on the streets. The wind, however, had diminished in violence, although at intervals there were flaws.

The mercury was down to 15 degrees this morning.

At the close of yesterday, and while the clouds of dust were still being hurled through the streets, the buoy house at Jones's Point was discovered to be on fire. An appeal was made to the fire department for assistance, but Chief Gronau was unable to respond, as there was no water supply. The structure was soon destroyed. The wind blew the smoke and flames away from the lighthouse and into Hunting Creek, and that structure suffered no damage.

The buoy house was constructed at time the lighthouse was placed upon Jones's Point, during the latter part of the fifties. For many years it was used by the government as a storage place for buoys, but it had long since been abandoned. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Women's House Garments,

Underwear and Corsets

Of principal interest in the House Garments are the Negliges, Boudior Gowns and Matinee Suits of lovely, soft materials: white and colored Mulls, figured Swisses, French Lawns and Batistes, in empire and straight effects. Crepe de Chine, Silk Negliges, Kimonos and Petticoats are prominent. Fine Silk Peticoats, all the new and fashionable colors. Our exclusive Corsets form an exhibit that in extensiveness and correctness is supreme in its excellence.

Designers have never been so eager to comply with the exact demands of the American woman, and the result is that while the fashions displayed here are essentially Parisian, the models, in the majority are adaptations of and nor original Paris creations, and embody features so clearly American that they are conferrd greater favor than the original Paris models formerly were. This feature relates only to the styles, however; many of the finer materials are still imported, and these exquisite foreign textures and ideas, harmoniously blended with American desires, bring out modes truly magnificent, and more appealing to American women than ever before.

TYPHOID AT FRONT ROYAL.

Spread of Disease Due to Pollution of Water.

Richmond, Va., March 7.—Alarming reports regarding an epidemic of typhoid fever at Front Royal caused the State Board of Health yesterday morning to give out an official statement, in which is the cheerful assurance that the worst is over and that the valley town will soon be in normal shape again.

The buleetin of the board reads:

"Our first intimation of typhoid fever in Front Royal was the receipt of a letter, asking for an examination of water, in which letter was a statement that there were seven or eight cases of fever in the town.

"The Board immediately dispatched to Front Royal its sanitary engineer with the state emergency water disinfectant plant. The engineer reached the town the same day, and upon receipt of his report, the inspector of the board was also sent to Front Royal. These two officers remained in charge until immediate danger was past.

"The report of the engineer makes it plain that the outbreak was due to pollution of the water supply, most probably by contamination of the watershed. While the extent of the outbreak has been much exaggerated, the danger was very great for a few days, and all those who contracted fever were exposed practically at the same time.

"The town authorities of Front Royal and of Riverton have co-operated most heartily and have done all in their power to relieve conditions. The board believes that the danger is past, if proper precautions are taken for the future.

A most distressing feature of the situation is the fact that the water supply of the town was thoroughly inspected by the board in 1911 and a detailed report on it was filed with the town authorities. In this the board stated that the watershed of the town was not properly protected and might easily cause au outbreak of typhoid fever. Since that time the danger has increased, and within the last few months, we are informed, a number of workmen were employed in improving a road along the watershed.

"The specimens of water sent from Front Royal did not show the presence of typhoid bacilli, but this was of no significance, as the germs are very rarely found in small quantities of water, even in the most sever outbreaks. The specimen, did, however, show very serious pollution.

"The board regrets extremely that this epidemic should have occurred where warning of danger had been given and proper precautions had not been taken."

PARTNERS MEET IN PRISON.

Chicago Police Chief Visits Former Fellow Patrolman.

Richmond, Va., March 7.—A man dressed in the height of fashion and a man wearing felon's stripes met late Wednesday afternoon in the superintendent's office at the State penitentiary and the eyes of both grew dim.

The man who wore the frock coat, shiny hat and other things to match was John McWeeny, Chief of Police of Chicago. The man in the loose-fitting suit of coarse material with broad bands of blacq runnig around it in circular fashion was J. F. Murphy, a prisoner, serving a sentence for horse-stealing.

Twenty years ago the two men did patrolmen's duty side by side in Chicago. Now one is in command of the force and the other is an outcast.

Murphy, whose real name is said to be Plunkett, had received no intimation of Chief McWeeny's coming. He was at work in the shoe shop when the chief presented himself at the office and requested the interview.

As the figure in the striped suit came shambling into the room with a guard at his side, he did not raise his eyes. He was puzzled and not a little frightened at the summons to the "front office."

"Well, Jim, don't you know me?" asked Chief McWeeny in a husky voice.

For the first time the prisoner looked about him. His eyes finally fixed upon the chief and rested there for a careful survey of the visitor's figure. He looked the chief up and down slowly. Then his lips framed a wan smile and he advanced a step or two.

"John!" he gasped. "Say, now, I never would have known you. And you've got that stout, too. Why, man alive, you look like the real thing."

The two shook hands and with voices that were filled with emotion fell to talking. The others in the room drew back and made no effort to hear what was passed. Their eyes, too, were shining.

For a quarter of an hour the chief and the felon chatted of old times.

Murphy left Chicago many years ago after some difficulty in which he became involved as a policeman and drifted to Virginia. He descended to evil ways and was convicted of horse stealing. He was paroled. He had been out but a short time when he was arrested again for horse-stealing. He was sent up from Petersburg on February 9, 1909 for three years. Being a previous offender he received an additional sentence of five years, making an eight-year term in all that he must serve.

WILSON PLEASED WITH COLLEGE BOYS.

The comparison between the happy smiling countenance of William Howard Taft and the serious pose of Woodrow Wilson on Tuesday was undoubtedly made by every one who saw the two men riding side by side. It almost seemed from their appearance that it was Taft that was being inaugurated and that Wilson was leaving the presidential chair. But there were times when the new President did smile and once or twice waved his hat. When he smiled it was a geunine smile of apreciation and there was an occasion for it.

And when he waved his hat his heart, not his pride, was touched.

He acknowledged the salutation of every governor who rode by him in a fitting manner; he raised his hat whenever a flag was lowered; he showed real concern on several occasions when the horses ridden by the color bearers,became almost unmanageable when the flapping flags were lowered beside their heads.

He would rather have foregone all the display than to have had a single man thrown and injured. On two or three occasions a hospital ambulance clattered by his stand, and his face grew grave,and he wondered if anyone had been injured.

On more than one occasion a broad grin crept over his face to be suppresed in an instance as some fat militia officer or a member of the staff of a Governor, radiant in gold lace, bounced by on a horse that was uncurried and spavined and swaybacked, and which looked as if it had been requisitioned from some ancient "sea-going hack" or transfer wagon.

The humor of such a situation appealed to him at once, but he tried to hide it.

But it was not until the end of the parade was passing that Mr. Wilson gave much sign of real feeling.

When the students from Princeton came along shouting their college yells and cheering for Wilson, there was joy in his laugh—the occasion was too great for a smile, and he waved his hat to his boys. They are very close to his heart, for one of the greatest fights of his life was made in their behalf and for their training as true-souled Americans, free from snobbisness.

But a little way along came another army of college boys. They were from the University of Virginia, about a thousand strong, and at their head was the Stonewall Brigade Band from Staunton, the town in which he was born.

He did not know who they were at first. As the boys and the band swung around from Fifteenth street to pass his stand, the band struck up and a thousand boys' voices swelled to the music of:

Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And never brought to mind,
Should auld acquaintance be forgt,
And the days of Auld Lang Syne?

Then he knew that the boys of the school in which he had spent so many happy days were recalling to him the old times that are fragrant in his soul; his eyes filled up and ran over, he tried to call out something to them, but no one could make out what it was; and no one asked him afterward. It was then that the hat came off and it was waved to them as it had not been waved before that day, telling the boys that "Auld acquaintances" will not be forgot.

He watched the boys out of sight, and when the last of the song had died away he was the same quiet, dignified, self contained man that he had been throughout the day.

TUCKER DESERVES A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

According to our Washington correspondent political gossip among Virginians in Washington largely centers around Harry St. George Tucker, now that the cabinet positions have been announced. He writes as follows:

"Mr. Tucker has been here during the week, and on Monday and Tuesday while President Wilson was a guest at the Shoreham Hotel, Mr. Tucker, who has also been stopping there, met the President and the members of his family. This hotel is also the temporary home of Secretary McAdoo, and he and Mr. Tucker also exchanged many pleasant words.

"Mr. Tucker left Washington for New York this afternoon, but had nothing to say for publication. As a matter of fact, those closest to the appointment line are keeping very quiet for obvious reasons, but there is every right to believe that the reading public will learn something interesting about Mr. Tucker soon."

Mr. Tucker's many friends here in Alexandria certainly hope that he will be well taken care of by the new administration. He was the original Wilson man in this state and made a determined fight for him in the convention in Norfolk, the national convention in Baltimore and afterwards in the campaign. He deserves much and we hope that he will get what he wants.

CORRECTION.

Dobbs Ferry Fire Department, N. Y.
March 6th, 1913.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

Dear Sir: Referring to the inclosed clipping taken from you rgood paper, in regard to the fire at St. Christophers' Home, may I correct some of the statements? The home is in Dobbs Fery,and our department answered the alarm as quickly as automobile could go. The Hastings department assisted and did fine work in keeping the flames from spreading.

There are but 125 children in the home; only 25 in the building adjoining the laundry which was on fire not 350 as stated. The children were in no danger, and were only transferred to another cottage in case of accident. The home being built on the cottage plan. The fire was discovered at 2 a. m. The loss was not $15,000. It was nearer $4,00.

Very truly yours,

B. L. WALACE,
Chief Dobbs Ferry Fire Department

Trial of Mother Jones.

Charleston, W. Va., March 7.—The military commission was to resume hearings at Paint Creek Junction, today under some doubt as to its exact legal status. Another attempt was made late yesterday to block the trial of Mother Jones and the seventy-nine strikers and leaders under arrest. Governor Hatfield conferred with the attorney general and others late last night but made no announcement this morning as to action to be taken.

Another Suffragette Goes to Prison

London, March 7.—Miss Olive Wharry, alias Joyce Locke, a suffragette; today was sent to prison for 18 months of mild labor, for participation in the burning of the tea pavilion in Kew Botanical Gardens. At the trial at Old Bailey, atended by a horde of militants the police evidence was brief and the defense introduced no testimony.

Fifty Men Executed.

Vienna, March 7.—A dispatch today from Constantinople said that fifty mutinous Arabs, from the army of Gallipoli, were executed for refusal to obey orders. The men were brought over from Asia Minor where it was warm, and they declared that the rigorous cold of the European winter benumbed them and made it impossible for them to fight.

SMILES.

By The Second Ward Bard.

THE OLD MAID

I know of a woman who's known to you all,
She's not very short and she's not very tall,
She's not very thin and she's not very stout,
In fact, this same woman I'm talking about
Is quite commonplace, that is all.

For you see in most things she is just about grade,
But one question you'll ask she will surely evade,
For she's not very young and she's not very old,
And the question of age, I have often been told,
Will be dodged if it's asked an old maid.

She's got quite a temper and sometimes will say
What she has on her mind in a militant way,
Then you'd better quickly upon your way hike,
For she's just a bit sharp with the folks she can't like,
And your going you'd best not delay.

She knows the town gossip and likes to relate
Some scandal she's heard of a quite recent date,
She starts in the afternoon, just about three,
To talk to some friend who's engaged serving tea,
And some sly bit of news to narrate.

But I notice this maiden of uncertain years
Will often be found in some place where folks' tears
Have taken the place of the smiles which they showed
E'er trouble had burdened their hearts with a load
Of suffering, sorrow and fears.

She's known in the sick-room, she's known where the hand
Of the deadly grim reaper has reached to demand,
As toll we must pay, one more life to his list,
And she shows grieving loved ones that through the dark mist
The sun will break through o'er the land.

So we wonder at what we can never explain,
Just why this woman the Lord's let remain
What we call in derision a hopeless old maid,
Is not in a white bridal outfit arrayed,
Keeping step to the wedding march strain.

Now that the inauguration is over, won't somebody please announce himself as a candidate for something or other, so as to keep us stirred up.

If we had been acting in the capacity of a street car conductor on Monday or Tuesday, we wouldn't be interested in the new design of nickels the government is putting out. We'd be pretty well satisfied with our collection of the old kind.

We desire to deny the rumor that we turned down a position in the cabinet in order to be postmaster of Alexandria. We weren't offered the cabinet place, and too many people have that postmastership cinched for us to bother about it.

A six-year term fo' president!
That jus'-about makes we sick.
I would choose a one-year term,
Then they'd come fas' an' thick.

It ain't that I'm a-carin' 'bout
Political relations,
But I'm just kind of crazy 'bout
These blamed inaugurations.

Alienists yesterday examined the first "crank" of the Wilson administration. The man gave his name as Dr. Charles A. Schwab, of Dallas, Texas. He is being detained in the Washington asylum, in which institution he was placed Tuesday when arrested by Secret Service men on his arrival in Washington. The man said he was on his way to the White house to be sworn in as President and he had in his possession a number of written messages purporting to have been sent to him by Chief Justice White, of the Supreme Court. It is believed that he wrote them himself.

Making Both Ends Meet

Every right-minded man and woman is concerned with the problem of making a definite income cover an elastic expense. income cover an elastic expense. Some one must economize, plan and sacrifice to bring about the saving. Usually the manager in a home is the woman.

The most successful women plan their expenses as a business man plans his. It is easy to let food and clothing run through the pay envelope, and "make the old chair do."

Result—children prefer town to home. Husband has business up town. And the hard working woman wonders what is wrong with her ideals.

Furniture is not necessarily a big portion of your monthly expenditure, but you ought to set aside a little out of each week's wages for beautifying your home.

In the end it will pay big dividends.

You are invited cordially to come in this week and learn about our plan.

NO CHANGE IN PRICES.

Vegetables Are More Plentiful And Slightly Cheaper.

During the past few days large shipments of fresh vegetables have been made to this market, which has made prices lower on some products and has also brought in some vegetables, which have not been seen here for some months.

New asparagus is bringing 20 cents a bunch. Fine new green onions are cheaper, three nice bunches selling for a nickle. Some select oyster plants are on sale at 15 cents a bunch Potatoes are unchanged in price. Small new varieties are on the market, but are sold only on order. Strawberries are becoming plentiful at 20 and 25 cents a box. Green peppers and cauliflower are plentiful and of the finest quality, as is also new cabbage.

The meat market is holding its own. Prices for the best cuts and roasts are about the same as last week. Lamb and pork are reasonable in price for this time of year. Dealers do not anticipate any reduction in the price of meats for this season, as farmers are not raising beef cattle. They sell calves while young, which makes beef high in price. Good pot roast may be bought for 12 1-2 cents a pound, while stew veal and beef sell as low as 15 cents for good quality.

Sweet Florida oranges are 5 cents a dozen higher than last week. Grape fruit selling at 4 for a quarter.

Death of a Labor Leader.

Cleveland, O., March 6.—Harry D. Thomas, 48, secretary of the Cleveland and Ohio Federations of Labor, and nationally prominent in labor circles, died at his home here today. Thomas was a member of the recent state constitutional convention.

Berlin.—Owing to the increasing number of suicides, the municipal authorities are considering offering gold medals to all persons preventing others from killing themselves.

Disastrous Fire.

Middletown, N. Y., March 7.—Fire early today destroyed a large part of the business section of Montgomery, a village twelve miles from this city. The fire started in the Palace Hotel stables and spread to the High School, the Presbyterian Church and a number of dwelling houses adjoining. There was no fire protection and a high wind fanned the flames. One man, who has not been identified but is supposed to have been a hostler, was burned to death in the hotel stables while trying to save the horses.

Steamer Disabled.

Portsmouth, Va., March 7.—The steamer Sadie wirelessed "S.O.S." today reporting that her mast had been carried away in yesterday's gale and her captain and one of her crew seriousl yinjured. She is off Paramores Beach, Va. The revenue cutter Onondaga is speeding to her rescue.

Injured at Puddling Mill.

Sharon, Pa., March 7.—Three men were perhaps fatally injured and six others seriously hurt when a puddling furnace at the Wilkes Rolling Mill exploded today. The mill was partially wrecked. The boiler over the puddling mill was hurled one hundred feet into the air. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Present Address of Loyalty.

London, March 7.—The Lord Mayor or London, the sheriffs and other city officials today went to Marlborough House to present an address of loyalty and congratulations to the dowager Queen Alexandra who is celebrating the fiftieth aniversary of her arrival in England.

The queen-mother will give a big dinner party tonight to the Royal family. It was on March 7, 1863 that the Danish princess immortalized by Tenyson in his "Sea King as Daughter from over the sea," landed at Gvravesend to be married three days later to the then prince of Wales, who later became King Edward VII.

Although there was no official celebration today, flags were flying on all of the government buildings. Guests of honor at tonights dinner and ball will be seven surviving bridesmaids who attended Alexandra when she was married.

A flower-selling fete, similar to that which marked her last birthday is being arranged in honor of Queen Alexandra, for a later date. Many congratulatory mesages and costly presents were sent to the dowager Queen by royal personages oin the continent. She is 69 years old.

The Darrow Case.

Los Angeles, March 7.—No word came from the jury room early today indicating the fate of Clarence S. Darrow, whose trial on charges of bribing Roberts Bain, one of the McNamara case jurors went to the jury at 9:55 last night. The jurors claimed they were too tired to deliberate last night, and caused Judge Conley to adjourn until ten o'clock this morning.

The closing argument of Deputy District Attorney Ford, which began immediately after Darrow himself had closed for the defense intimated that "there was something wrong" in the first trial of Darrow on charge of bribery, which had resulted in his acquital.

These intimations of crookedness aroused the anger of Darrow's attorneys and also several members of the first Darrow jury, who were in court, and who protested indignantly to Judge Conley against allowing the prosecutor say such things.

St. Petersburg.—An entire new issue of Russian postage stamps has been withdrawn because the czar's portrait was so arranged that they could ont be canceled without marring the imperial countenance.

White Slave Traffic.

Chicago, March 7.—The Illinois senate committe probing the White Slave traffic and seeking to learn some of the cause of the ruin of young girls resumed its sessions at the Hotel La Selle today.

Ten department store heads were to testify today if time permits. When they appeared the room was crowded with members of the legislature, social workers and others interestd in the vice problem.

Julius Rosenwold, president of the Sears, Roebuck Mail Order House, and philanthrophist, was selected to go on the stand first. Lieut. Governor O'Hara, who heads the committee, expected to ask Rosenwald why any girl employed by his big concern is paid less than $10 a week, whether it is true that the company seeks to employ only girls who live at home because those girls are partially supported by their families and can work at a lower wage, and whether he does not believe that store heads who set wages lower than $10, are directly responsible for the wrecking of young girl's lives. Nineteen notorious "red light" district habitues have also been subpoenaed. "Mike the Pike" and Heitter and Louis Levin, denziens of the Levee districts, are among those who will testify. In addition to these it is likely that "Bath House John" Coughlin and "Hinkey Dinkey" Kenna, first ward aldermen, will be asked to tell what they know about segregated vice.

She Had Consumption, Was Dying; Now Well

Eckman's Alterative is being used with success in the treatment of Tuberculosis in all parts of the country. Persons who have taken it, improved, gained weight, exhausting night sweats stopped, fever diminished, and many recovered. If you are interested to know more about it, we will put you in touch with some who are now well. You can investigate and judge for yourself. Read of Mrs. Govert's recovery.

Griffith, Ind.

"Gentlemen: Thinking that perhaps a short history of the remarkable recovery of my mother-in-law (Mrs. Anna Govert) might benefit some other sufferers, I give the following testimonial: About September 10, 1908, she was taken sick with Catarrhal Pneumonia, and continually grew worse, requiring a trained nurse. Night sweats were so bad that it was necessary to change her clothing once or twice every night; her cough increased and got so bad that everybody expected that she would not live much longer. In January, when Rev. Wm. Berg, of St. Michael's Church, at Shereville, Ind., prepared for her death, he recommended that I get Eckman's Alterative, and see if it would not give her some relief. I then requested the attending physician to give his diagnosis and he informed me that she had Consumption and was beyond all medical aid. When I asked if he thought that it was useless to try the Alterative, he replied that 'No physician could help her any and I could suit myself about it.' So I immediately had Rev. Wm. Berg to send for a bottle. Practically without hope for recovery, I insisted that she try the Alterative, which she did. I am glad to say that she soon began to improve. Now, she works as hard as ever, weighs twenty pounds heavier than she ever did before she took sick, and is in good health. She frankly says she owes her life and health to Eckman's Alterative."

(Sworn Affidavit) JOS. GRIMMER.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Trouble, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists

Bear Invades School Room.

Sharon, Pa., March 7.—Desperately fighting off a big brown bear yesterday with a stove poker, while her children ran into an anteroom in the school for safety, was the experience of Miss Lillie Graham, teacher in the Brookville school near this city. The bear caused a panic in the school when it entered the door and made straight for the frightened group of children.

Miss Graham saw that the only way to prevent some of her pupils from being injured and possibly killed was to stand and fight.

While trying to hurry the children into an anteroom, Miss Graham saw that her efforts would be futile unless the bear could be headed off. The plucky young teacher caught up a heavy iron stove poker, and jumping behind a desk, struck the bear over the snout. Before the brute could recover from surprise at the sudden attack, the young woman rained blow after blow over his head and snout.

When the last child had succeeded in getting into the anteroom, Miss Graham dropped the poker, and by keeping the desks between her and the bear, managed to reach the room also. After slamming the door Miss Graham collapsed.

A searching party hunting the bear entered the school and released the teacher and children.

The bear, which had escaped from a cage while being transferred to Youngstown, was vicious.

Reinforced Strikers.

Paterson, N. J., March 6.—Three thousand of the six thousand ribbon weavers in this city joined the ranks of the strikers today. They demand the eight hour work day and the readjustment of the wage schedule. Because of this unexpected development strike leaders were jubilant and declared that if the mills do not soon grant their demands a general strike will be called affecting not only the mills, but all other industries in the city.

A dozen of the smaller mills have offered to sign up with the union but the strike committee insists that it will do no business with any one unless all the mills agree to sign up.

There was a renewal of picketing today but the workers met with no interference from the police. There was no disorder.
